RADISSON HOTELS SAFETY PROTOCOL

One of Radisson Hotel Group's highest priorities is the continued health, safety and security of its guests, team members and business partners.

Radisson Hotels Safety Protocol aims to give our clients confidence when choosing their venue partners going forward, so we are working in partnership with SGS (Standard Global Services) – the world's leading inspection, verification, testing and certification company as they are recognised as the global benchmark for quality and integrity. Partnering with SGS ensures that the new protocols are validated, adapted, and in accordance with local requirements and recommendations under this program, individual hotels that comply with protocols can receive an official label of cleanliness and disinfection, issued by SGS, upon completion of a comprehensive local audit.

WTTC unveils “Safe Travels”

New global protocols to restart the Travel & Tourism sector and the WTTC initiative has been backed by top CEOs and business leaders from across the Travel & Tourism sector including Radisson Hotel Group.

Federico J. González, President & CEO, Radisson Hospitality AB, said: “We need to make sure that the travel industry speaks the same language and each consumer understands what safety means in hotels, regardless of their location. Having a common worldwide protocol will allow consumers to recognise the same safety standards wherever they travel. The WTTC Safe Travels protocols will make this same language possible for the benefit of everybody in this industry. This is the reason why Radisson Hotel Group supports this initiative and is looking forward to helping expand the WTTC Safe Travels protocols as much as possible, across the globe.”
